

EDUCATION SPECIALIST TEACHING CREDENTIAL

Do you have a passion to work with all students with mild/moderate disabilities, to appreciate their differences and strengths, and to help them recognize and realize their potential?

The Education Specialist Teaching Credential is for you!

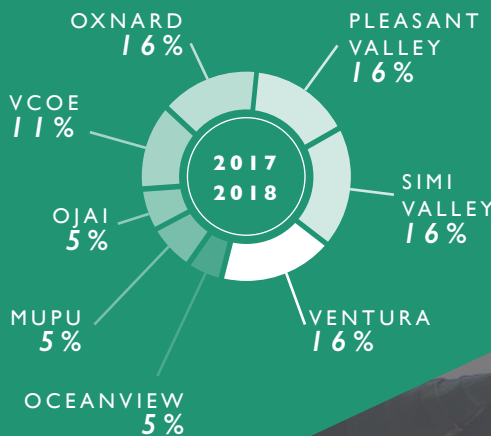

This program prepares CI teacher candidates to work with students with mild/moderate disabilities in both self-contained special education and general education classrooms. Across the program's courses and field work in K-12 classrooms, candidates develop the skills to appreciate and capitalize on the diversity of languages and cultures encountered in California's public-school classrooms.

“ I feel confident with my skills because the Education Specialist Credential prepared me. Classes helped me understand the process and strategies for assessment and how to write an academic report made my transition into teaching smooth.

— C. Johnston, Education Specialist ”
